

Chapel Hill Academy

College, Career, and Military Readiness Plan

Chapel Hill Academy is a public charter school that serves students from 16 surrounding school districts in grades Pre-Kindergarten – 8th grade. We focus on preparing our students while they matriculate up to 8th grade and begin the transition to high school.

At Lena Pope and Chapel Hill Academy, we believe that children possess unlimited potential and are worthy of our investments. But we know that, just like adults, children in our community face adversity. We also know that reducing the damaging effects of these negative experiences is critical to adult success, later in life. Promoting well-being requires deep understanding in order to address child, youth, and caregiver functioning in physical, behavioral, social, and cognitive areas.

Chapel Hill Academy relies on Lena Pope's use of nine decades of experience in child and family services to inform our current efforts to improve child well-being in Tarrant County.

We believe investing in kids now leads to happy, healthy, and successful adults later. We believe providing proactive services and support to improve the emotional, behavioral, and intellectual well-being of kids ensures the largest returns on our investments and keeps kids on a path toward success.

Additionally, Chapel Hill Academy begins instilling the important concept of becoming college, career, and military ready in students as early as the Pre-Kindergarten level. Educators continue these conversations and gradually presenting opportunities for exposure of college, career and military exploration to all students in Pre-Kindergarten – 8th grade. These opportunities include introductions to various local, state, and national universities, vocational schools, and branches of the military through staff experiences and more importantly Chapel Hill Academy alumni who return to share their current endeavors in colleges and universities, careers, and the military.
